Jeremy Corbett entertains at Father and Daughter breakfast

Stand-up comedian, radio and TV presenter and father Jeremy Corbett hosted the Epsom Girls Grammar School (EGGS) Father and Daughter breakfast on 12 August.

The annual event, which saw 220 guests, is a celebration of fathers and their daughters and sets aside time for busy Epsom fathers to spend quality time with their daughters. It highlights the importance of the role of New Zealand fathers in the lives of their daughters.

Guest Speaker, Jeremy Corbett ensured it was a breakfast to remember with moving stories of his experiences as a father.

As a father to two daughters, Corbett says, "I am just starting my father-daughter journey and I thought the challenge of talking about it would help me to learn more about myself and my relationship with my little angels."

Corbett was joined by students Olivia Bridgman, EGGS Head Girl and Grace O'Donnell, Sela Finau, Anna Dolan, deputy head girls organising the event. The girls were delighted to bring their fathers along to the event.

During the breakfast, the speeches focused on anecdotes and musings on the special connection between fathers and daughters. Perspectives from both sides were shared with Corbett highlighting his own reflections of fatherhood and Head Girl Bridgman shared her experiences as a daughter.

The event was held at Eden Park and made possible by Principal Sponsor - BNZ Newmarket.
